For example, this means that if necessary, PRC must provide sign language interpreters for people who are deaf, a wheelchair accessible location, or enlarged print materials. It also means that PRC will take any other reasonable action that allows you to take part in and understand a program or activity, including making reasonable changes to an activity. If you believe that you will not be able to understand or take part in a program or activity because of your disability, please let us know of your disability needs in advance if at all possible. Please contact PRC at 602-253-6895.

Please join Phoenix City Councilman Michael Johnson and community members along with the City of Phoenix Office of Cultural Affairs and Water Services, Library and Parks and Recreation departments for the dedication of the newly redesigned Harmon Park.

6 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 14, 2010 at Fourth Avenue and West Yavapai Street (one block south of Buckeye Road)

The project was commissioned by the City of Phoenix Public Art Program. This outdoor public art project is designed to enhance the connection between Harmon Library and the surrounding community by creating a new park with tree-lined paths embedded with colorful glass. Paths lead to a community garden surrounded by an artist-designed fence and a grassy amphitheater that will be used by the Harmon Library as an outdoor classroom. The park’s new bright blue, leaf-shaped benches under the shade of Palo Verde trees encourage an inviting gathering place for neighbors. The paths and the new ballpark are designed with dusk-to-dawn lighting for night time enjoyment and safety.

6 p.m., jueves, 14 de octubre de 2010 en Fourth Avenue y West Yavapai Street (una cuadra al sur de Buckeye Road)

El proyecto se le asignó al Programa de Arte Público de la Municipalidad de Phoenix. Este proyecto de arte público en exteriores se diseñó con el fin de mejorar la conexión entre la Biblioteca Harmon y la comunidad que la rodea mediante un nuevo parque con senderos bordeados por árboles enmarcados por cristales muy coloridos. Los senderos desembocan en un jardín comunitario delimitado por una cerca con diseño artístico en el que destaca un anfiteatro con césped que la Biblioteca Harmon empleará como salón al aire libre. Los nuevos bancos en forma de hoja de color azul vivo ubicados bajo la sombra de los árboles de Palo Verde conforman un agradable lugar de reunión para los vecinos. Tanto los senderos como el nuevo campo de béisbol fueron diseñados con iluminación inteligente para que se pueda disfrutar de los mismos por la noche y con seguridad.

Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) Síndrome de Muerte Infantil Súbita (SMIS)

What is SIDS? ¿Qué es SMIS?

What should I know about SIDS? ¿Qué debería saber acerca de SMIS?

Health care providers don’t know exactly what causes SIDS, but they do know:

- Babies sleep safer on their backs. Babies who sleep on their stomachs are much more likely to die of SIDS than babies who sleep on their backs.
- Sleep surface matters. Babies who sleep on or under soft bedding are more likely to die of SIDS.
- Every sleep time counts. Babies who usually sleep on their backs, but who are then placed on their stomachs, like for a nap, are at very high risk for SIDS. So it’s important for everyone who cares for your baby to use the back sleep position for naps and at night.

Communities across the nation have made great progress in reducing SIDS! Since the Back to Sleep campaign began in 1994, the SIDS rate in the United States has declined by more than 50 percent.

Los médicos no saben exactamente lo que ocasiona SMIS, pero saben:

- Los bebés duermen más seguros en sus espaldas. Los bebés que duermen boca abajo son mucho más propensos a morir de SMIS que los bebés que duermen boca arriba.
- La superficie donde duerme importa. Los bebés que duermen sobre o debajo de las sábanas suaves son más propensos a morir de SMIS.
- Cada vez que duerme cuenta. Hay veces que los bebés que suelen dormir en sus espaldas los acuestan boca-abajo cuando toman una siesta. Estos bebés, están bajo un riesgo muy alto de SMIS. Así que es importante para todos los que cuidan a su bebé acostarlo boca-arriba durante la siesta y por la noche.

Transit Service Cuts & Tips for Dealing with Them

Arizona PIRG has some tips for transit riders on how to deal with the service cuts:

- If you use public transit, make sure to check the schedule for service changes and plan more time for your commute. You can find more information about specific service changes online at www.valleymetro.org or in the transit supplemental book, which is available on buses and at transit centers.

- If your bus route has been eliminated, check with Valley Metro to see if there is an alternate route available. In most cases, alternative route(s) are available if someone’s route is being eliminated or changed.

- If you can’t find an alternate route, see if you can find a carpool or vanpool in your area. Valley Metro has a website to match carpool riders at www.sharetheride.valleymetro.org.

- Contact your local elected officials and urge them to support a dedicated funding source for transit that provides a reliable revenue stream so that service cuts don’t have to occur in the future. Ask state legislators to restore the lottery funds that were intended for transit. Encourage members of Congress to at least double the share of transportation funding given to transit.

Visit www.arizonapirg.org for more information about Arizona PIRG and for additional transit tips.

South Mountain Working to Building, Opportunities, Resources, Knowledge and Skills (W.O.R.K.) is a Coalition whose goal is to reduce alcohol use among youth (ages 12-20) in the South Mountain Community. The coalition is working to reduce norms that encourage underage drinking and reduce the social access youth have in obtaining alcohol. In an effort to reach their goals the Coalition will be launching a media campaign entitled THINK TWICE! Two main ways youth in South Mountain access alcohol are from taking it from their own homes or people over the age of 21 buy it for them. The goal of this campaign is to educate the community on the consequences of supplying youth with alcohol. The consequences of underage drinking effect everyone, youth, families, adults, and communities. There are two parts to the campaign; Think Twice...Don’t Buy, Don’t Supply and Think Twice...Lock it up! The campaign will be launched in connection with Red Ribbon Week October 24th-30th, 2010. Opportunities for students

As the school year takes off, I want to take some time once again to remind you about the projects in which my office gives students opportunities to become engaged not only in their education, but in activities that will give them insight and interest in government, Congress and their community. The annual Congressional Art Competition is one of the highlights of each spring. High school students who live or attend school in our district are encouraged to submit their artwork to this competition each year. Arizona’s youth are a huge source of amazing, gifted artists. The pieces that are submitted to the contest each year are extraordinary. Our young Arizona artists are extremely talented and many of the winners of the Congressional Art Competition have gone on to careers as working artists. I have been fortunate to see their work displayed not only in the Capitol, but also throughout the Valley, if not the nation.

The art competition’s first place winner will have his or her art piece hung in the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C., for a year, alongside other first place winners from Congressional districts throughout the country. In addition, the winner and a guardian is flown to Washington to be recognized at a summer ceremony on Capitol Hill. The trip to Washington, D.C., is made possible by the generosity of Southwest Airlines, which donates the plane tickets, and Chicanos Por La Causa, Inc., which donates hotel expenses. The contest also is held in cooperation with the Art Institute of Phoenix, which generously donates scholarships to the first, second and third place winners.

Congressional internships also are opportunities offered in my offices. While internships in my office are non-paid, students benefit by receiving college credits if offered by their university as they work in my office, plus they learn first-hand about the federal government at work. Interns assist constituents in resolving problems with federal agencies, represent me at community events and meetings, and have the opportunity to research legislation for constituents. Many industrious interns use these opportunities to make professional contacts for future employment opportunities and learn how a Congress member serves his constituents and maneuvers through the political process on Capitol Hill.

Finally, my office also works with high school students to nominate them for military academy appointments. The deadline for students who live in our district to request nominations is Oct. 15. Every member of Congress is given the opportunity to nominate high school students from his or her district for such appointments to the U.S. Air Force, Military, Naval, and Merchant Marine academies.

I encourage students to take a serious look at the pursuit of an education through a federal service or military academy because they provide excellent higher educational and career opportunities. Applicants must be U.S. citizens at least 17 years of age, unmarried, childless and have no legal obligation to support children or other dependents. In addition, they should be of good character, have scholarship and leadership skills, physical aptitude and medical fitness. More information about these programs is available by contacting my Phoenix office at 602-256-0551.
